This we do in order that we may have as full a knowledge as possible of our applicants for employment before we introduce them to employers. The replies received from former employers were, with few exceptions, such as warranted us in recommending our applicants, to those needing their services. . . Our table of the duration of idleness shows a falling off in the percentage when compared to that of 1897. This condition can be attributed to the revival of business, yet there is room and need for improvement in this particular, as very many worthy people are still unemployed. There is a change gradually taking place in the re-adjustment of domestic servants to meet present conditions. This change, for the present at least, is not very agreeable to women who have accustomed themselves to any one particular branch of such service. Owing to the large numbers of families desiring to reside in flats and apartment houses, demands for women who do general housework is on the increase, while calls for waitresses, chambermaids, cooks, etc., correspondingly decrease. We find it impossible to get girls to fill all our calls for general housework, as women who heretofore were employed at other branches of domestic service are very reluctant to make the change. For, as cooks, chambermaids, and waitresses, they say that they have regular hours; while as general houseworkers they contend that their labor is hardly ever...
